

Rising Voices 3 Evaluation

Evaluation Team:

Kyle Whyte, Chis Caldwell, Marie Schaefer,
Jannan Cornstalk, Wendy Dorman, Citralina Haruo

Evaluating – What?

Relationships that are being built and maintained through Rising Voices.

MENOMINEE SUSTAINABILITY THEORETICAL MODEL

- Sustainability Model:
 - Land and Sovereignty
 - Natural Environment
 - Institutions
 - Technology
 - Economics
 - Human Perception, Activity & Behavior

AIHEC EVALUATION FRAMEWORK

Similar to the Menominee Nation Model, but developed for evaluation of education projects:

- Evaluation is part of and within the activity itself
- Place-based
- Community-based
- Individual responsibility-based; and
- Respective of the entire Tribe as a people.

RV3 Day 1: Observations

- Reaching across boundaries and allowing networking that wouldn't otherwise have been possible
- Learning a common language to use between Traditional Ecological Knowledges and Scientific Knowledge
- Making regional connections with parties who have never met but live in the same area and work in the same field on similar projects. This leads to an exchange of information and inclusion in a larger network to collaborative.
- Students looking for mentors who have advice on careers

Post-RV3

- Asking for your feedback post-RV3 and reporting back the pre-RV3 survey results
- There will ample chances for people to comment and contribute at every step.

Miigwech!
Thank you!
